YOUNG WOMAN IS RELEASED ON BOND

Mary Ellen Hughes Pleads Not Guilty, to Charge of Embezzlement in Circuit Court

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Specifically Charged With Taking $228.50 From F. B. Johnson & Co. Drug Store

Mary Ellen Hughes, age 22 years, 806 North Arthur street, was arrested this afternoon and arraigned at two o'clock in the circuit court before Judge Will Sparks, on a charge of embezzlement, and entered a plea of not guilty, securing her release on $1,000 bond.

This arrest was one of the five grand jury indictments returned Wednesday noon, when a report was made. One other indictment, charging Silverton Miller and Chester Taylor with unlawfully keeping a place for serving intoxicating liquor, was also served this morning by the officers.

Each defendant appeared and entered a plea of not guilty, and was released on $1,000 bonds. The remaining three indictments will probably be served in a day or so.

The indictment returned against Miss Hughes charges that she was employed continuously as a clerk in the F. B. Johnson and Company drug store in this city from October 22, 1921, and that the firm was a corporation engaged in the retail business of selling drugs, sundries, wall paper, magazines and newspapers.

A portion of the indictment reads as follows: "* and said Mary Ellen Hughes did then and there take into her possession, from the sale of said goods and merchandise belonging to said F. B. Johnson and Company, by virtue of her said employment as a clerk * from October 22, 1921 to September 29, 1922, the sum of $228.50, feloniously and fraudulently take, purloin, secrete and appropriate to her own secret use the money aforesaid."

The defendant when she appeared pleaded not guilty, and her father, Thomas Hughes, and Theodore Edwards and John Toolen, acted as bondsmen in the sum of $1,000.

It is understood that the grand jury spent several days on the case against Miss Hughes.

BIG FOUR TRAFFIC IS RESTORED TODAY

Track Is Cleared Of Wreckage At Carthage At Two O'clock This Morning And Trains Move

BROKEN RAIL BELIEVED CAUSE

Traffic was back to normal on the local division of the Big Four railroad this morning, following a wreck at Carthage early Thursday morning, in which thirteen freight cars were derailed. The wreck occurred in the vicinity of the depot.

The Big Four station agent at Carthage first reported the wreck due to spreading rails, but a later investigation lead to the opinion that the derailment was due to a broken rail just south of the depot.

The track was cleared at two o'clock this morning after a crew of forty men had worked to clean up the wreckage for sixteen hours. The track was repaired temporarily so that traffic could be restored and permanent repairs will be made later. The derailed box cars were shoved to one side so that trains could pass and the debris will be cleaned up when time permits.

The damage will be very heavy, it was stated today. There were several cars of lumber and an oil tank car among those derailed. Several of the cars were smashed up as a result of colliding with each other.

SAFETY SAM

They's just two kinds o' drivers that gets caught by th' cars; one kind knows where th' tracks are an th' other don't care!

STARTS TO CHOOSE MINISTERS TODAY

A. Bonar Law Begins Formation Of New British Government, Accepting Offer Conditionally

PLANS MADE BY LLOYD GEORGE

Retiring Prime Minister Considers Organizing New Center Party To Include All Liberals

By LLOYD ALLEN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
London Oct. 20.—A Bonar Law started to choose his ministers today as Lloyd George considered formation of a new center party which would combine all Liberals under his leadership.

Lloyd George will announce his future plans at a speech at Leeds tomorrow, it was believed.
Bonar Law, who accepted conditionally the invitation of King George to form a ministry, consulted leaders of the Unionist party, whose bolt from the coalition government yesterday caused the downfall of Lloyd George, who was at the helm of the government for six years.

The Canadian born business man who may become the head of the next government is to give a definite acceptance to his majesty if he is chosen leader of the Unionist party. Although this is taken as a foregone conclusion, it will not be known definitely until the parliamentary unionists meet Saturday or Sunday.

Pending formation of a new government, the coalition ministry remains in control.

In case Bonar Law is still in forming a government it always is assured that there will be a general election. January or February were variously mentioned as the months in which the general election may be held, but many were of the opinion that it would be called at much sooner date.

The factors will be taken into consideration in selecting the time for a general election.
These are:
1.—The sooner the election is held the less opportunity Lloyd George will have to form a strong center party which would include not only his own followers in the Liberal party but those of various shades of Liberal opinion who are now connected with other parties.

2.—In case the election is deferred the feeling of bitterness on the part of Austin Chamberlain and other Georgian members of the Unionists party may be overcome, leading them, to

NEW CONFIDENCE SWEEPS COUNTRY

Secretary Wallace Outlines Obstacles Which Stood In Path of Agriculture In Greensburg Meeting

RESERVE ACT AMENDED

Broadening Of Powers Of War Finance Corporation Brought More Confidence To The Farmers

Greensburg, Ind., Oct. 20.—Broadening of the powers of the War Finance Corporation has caused a feeling of renewed confidence to sweep the country, Secretary Wallace declared here today in outlining to a meeting of farmers and business men; the obstacles which stood in the path of agriculture development before the corporation was reviewed and the federal reserve act amended. Governor Warren T. McCray, the Secretary pointed out, was among the first to take a lead in urging the action which he said had brought more confidence to the country.

Mr. Wallace, the first "dirt" in a President's cabinet since the days of "Tama Jim" Wilson, began a series of four speeches in Indiana at the addresses here. Tonight, he speaks at Rushville, and tomorrow afternoon at Frankfort, and tomorrow night at Crawfordsville. Congressman Fred Purnell, also will address the rankly farm meeting, which is to be a rally for all farmers of the Ninth Congressional District.

In his speech here, Mr. Wallace said that as a result of the legislation affecting the War Finance Corporation that money became easier to obtain, and that "a more liberal policy on farm loans was generally adopted; the sacrificing of grain and live stock was checked and the hope of the farmers was renewed."

The story of the service rendered by this agency, Mr. Wallace continued, serves to illustrate the importance of taking the affirmative rather than the negative view in times of difficulty.

"There were many people," said the Secretary, who were disposed to accept the disastrous action. They were people of the same mind as those pious folks in days gone by who looked upon death in the family from tuberculosis or typhoid fever as a visitation of wrath of divine providence, and not at all as a thing which they might have avoided by an observance of the now well known laws of sanitation and health.

"The law which created the federal

SAYS TAXATION IS MAIN ISSUES

Ex-Governor Ralston Addresses Big Crowd in Graham Annex Auditorium Thursday

REVIEWS WORK AS GOVERNOR

Speaker Declares Corporations and Profiteers Are Back of the Tariff Bill

Setting out the fact that the question of taxation is now the principal issue at stake, Samuel Ralston, former governor of Indiana and democratic candidate for United States Senator, addressed a crowd which almost completely filled the lower floor of the Graham Annex auditorium, on Thursday afternoon.

The speaking was preceded by a short address by James A. Clifton, mayor of Connersville, who also is seeking the election of congressman from this district. Several songs, with words concerning the various candidates, were rendered by a quartet from Newcastle, who accompanied Strod Hayes, candidate for joint representative.

The former governor in the opening his address stated that the main issue of the campaign was the all important and absorbent question of taxation, which is being discussed by the Republican party from all angles. The speaker stated that he had the friendliest regards for Albert J. Beveridge, his opponent in this campaign, but they differed from each other in certain views.

He stated further that he was also a friend of Senator Watson, and that he was well aware of the fact that he was in his home city, but he differed with him too on certain principles involved in the campaign. Continuing, Mr. Ralston stated, that "even Senator Watson and Mr. Beveridge, differ in opinions and views, on several matters."

The former governor made it emphatic that when the votes are counted this November 7 he will win out "and that I will have more votes—more than when I defeated him (Beveridge) in the race for governor in 1912, just ten years ago this fall." He stated that it would be a happy event in his life to twice defeat the same opponent, whom he had just eulogized so strongly from a clipping in a recent newspaper article, in which the former Senator Beveridge was characterized as being the model type of American citizen and statesmanship.

The former governor recalled his four years term in the state house as governor, from 1913 to 1917, and intimated that he was waging his present campaign upon the record which he established while serving as the chief executive of the state. He stated that when he took office in 1917, the state was in debt two million dollars, and that his general fund tax was cut to 9 cents, while the previous administration operated on a 12 cent levy.

He had this levy cut to 7 cents during the early part of his administration, he stated. In the early part of 1915, he said he went before the legislature which had assembled, and urged upon them the passage of agricultural vocation and domestic science courses in the high schools of the state.

Largely through his efforts, he stated, the vocational educational bill became a law, and a one cent levy was imposed. He asserted that he had done more in his term for the advancement of education, than any other governor in years gone by.

This vocational law, he stated, in less than two years brought more money into the state for that purpose, than they knew what to do with, and a surplus of $400,000 existed, and a reduction of one-half, was suggested by him.

The former governor stated that before he retired in 1917, his last message to the legislature, which he said was unfortunately republican in politics, was an appeal for a reduction in the general fund, and to do away with the sinking fund because there was $322,000 in this fund.

STOLEN AUTOMOBILE FOUND AT SPICELAND

Ford Coupe Taken From William B. Kirkpatrick's Garage Week Ago Is Badly Damaged

ABANDONED BY THE THIEVES

A stolen automobile belonging to William B. Kirkpatrick, 1108 North Main street, which was taken a week ago from the garage at the rear of his home, has been found in a wrecked condition near Spiceland, and returned here by Mr. Kirkpatrick, who will have the broken machine repaired.

The machine was abandoned near Spiceland early Wednesday morning, after the driver had smashed it into a tree. The Ford coupe was badly damaged, when it turned over, breaking off the top, smashing a wheel and doing other damage. Indications, judging from a pool of blood in the machine, were that the occupants were cut and bruised, but no efforts were made to trace the thieves by finding out from physicians if anyone had been treated.

The license plates had been removed, and the engine number was obtained and Henry county officials through this method learned the ownership of the machine.

It is believed that the machine was used by booze runners, because they made a quick get-away following the accident and were gone before people living in the vicinity could reach the machine.

TEXAS MAN NAMED NEW COMMANDER

Alvin M. Owsley Elected Leader of American Legion Over William F. Deegan of New York

SERVED AS MAJOR IN THE WAR

Combination of Western and Southern States Makes His Victory of Large Field Possible

(By United Press)
New Orleans, La., Oct. 20.—Alvin M. Owsley of Texas today was elected commander of the American Legion at the annual convention here today.

A combination of western and southern state put Owsley over and he walked away from William F. Deegan, New York, his chief opponent.

Owsley was a major in the 36th division and recruited his own battalion in northern Texas. The vote was:
Owsley, 547; Deegan, 251; Thompson 205; and John A. McCormick of Colorado, 12.

"I accept," said Owsley. "I pledge myself to carry out the things that you have ordered."

He was given an ovation when he appeared on the platform.

Owsley, who was acting director of the American Legion Americanism committee when barely thirty years old, had gained distinction as a soldier and statesman in Texas. He resigned a position as district attorney at the outbreak of the war to attend the first training camp for volunteers and was assigned to volunteers and was assigned as a major of infantry in the 36th division. He recruited his own battalion and a large portion of the division in Northern Texas.

After serving as divisional insurance officer and instructor in the third officers training school at Camp Bowie, Texas, Owsley went overseas with the division. He was made adjutant of the division and took part in two major engagements in Champagne and the Argonne.

Legionnaires were leaving the city in large numbers today since election of a commander was the only business remaining, and only delegates can participate in this.

The town was quieter than it has been for a week, although preparations were made for a grand closing celebration tonight.

The city last night witnessed the wildest carnival of the week. The Continental Limited on Wabash Strikes "Fish Plate" With Bolts. Removed and Spikes Pulled

TRACKS ARE TAMPERED WITH

Engine and 7 Coaches Plunge Down Embankment Near Williamsport, Ind.—Wreckage Burns

(By United Press)
Williamsport, Ind., Oct. 20.—Striking a "fish plate" with the bolts removed and several spikes pulled out, the Continental Limited, fast train on the Wabash between St. Louis and Detroit, crashed over a forty foot embankment near here last mid-night with a toll of three lives.

Five injured were taken to Lafayette, Indiana for treatment. No passengers were among the casualties.

The dead:
Charles Schmugge, engineer.
W. H. Smith, mail clerk.
R. A. Smith, baggage man.
The injured included baggagemen and trainmen.

The train bound from St. Louis to New York was speeding to make up time when it hit the broken rail. Railroad officials declared they believed the tracks had been tampered with.

Seven coaches and the engine went into the ditch.

Fire broke out immediately after the train left the track, burning the wreckage.

R. A. Smith, baggageman of Detroit, was cremated by a blaze which started in his car and burned seven coaches of wood construction. His body was identified in a Williamsport morgue this morning by a friend after members of the train crew had failed to recognize it.

The lifeless body of Engineer Charles Schmugge, of Decatur, Ill., was pulled from under his locomotive. H. W. Smith, express messenger from Detroit died while being taken to St. Elizabeth hospital at Lafayette.

Six were injured, five of them passengers, but it is thought none will die. They were:

W. W. Fields, mail clerk, Huntington, Ind., left leg cut and bruised.

Emerson Clayton, St. Louis, two ribs fractured and leg cut.

The "fish plate" had connected two stretches of rail on an upgrade around Redwood, curve. An investigation was started today to determine how the bolts were removed from it and how the spikes were pulled from the rails.

The locomotive and eight of the eleven coaches rolled over the embankment. One of the coaches was a pullman. They were all carrying their capacity of passengers.

As the day coaches rolled over and over screams of women and children went through the night air. People crawled out through the windows and doors.

Conductor Frank Hulbert one of the first to emerge from the wreckage said he saw the baggage car burning. He saw the rescue work was getting underway. So he and Murray Greenman, a passenger from Danville, Ill., ran to a neighboring farm house, awakened the farmer and borrowed his fliwer.

They drove to Williamsport and notified the telephone operator who blew the fire alarm. The entire town turned out of bed and hundreds of people rushed to the scene.

The blaze from the burning cars could be seen five miles away. They set fire to a woods at the bottom of the embankment. The engine plowed through the woods bowling over large trees like ten pins.

The mail was taken from the mail coach and the Sheriff deputized six men to keep an all night vigil over it and over the wreckage.

The track was being cleared and it was expected it would be open by noon.

America? Answer New York

What's the Matter With

New York, Oct 20—The answer of Rabbi Stephen S. Wise to "what is the matter with America?" is this: "New York."

The famous rabbi said so here in a sermon yesterday.

Other faults the learned clergyman has to find with the United States follow:

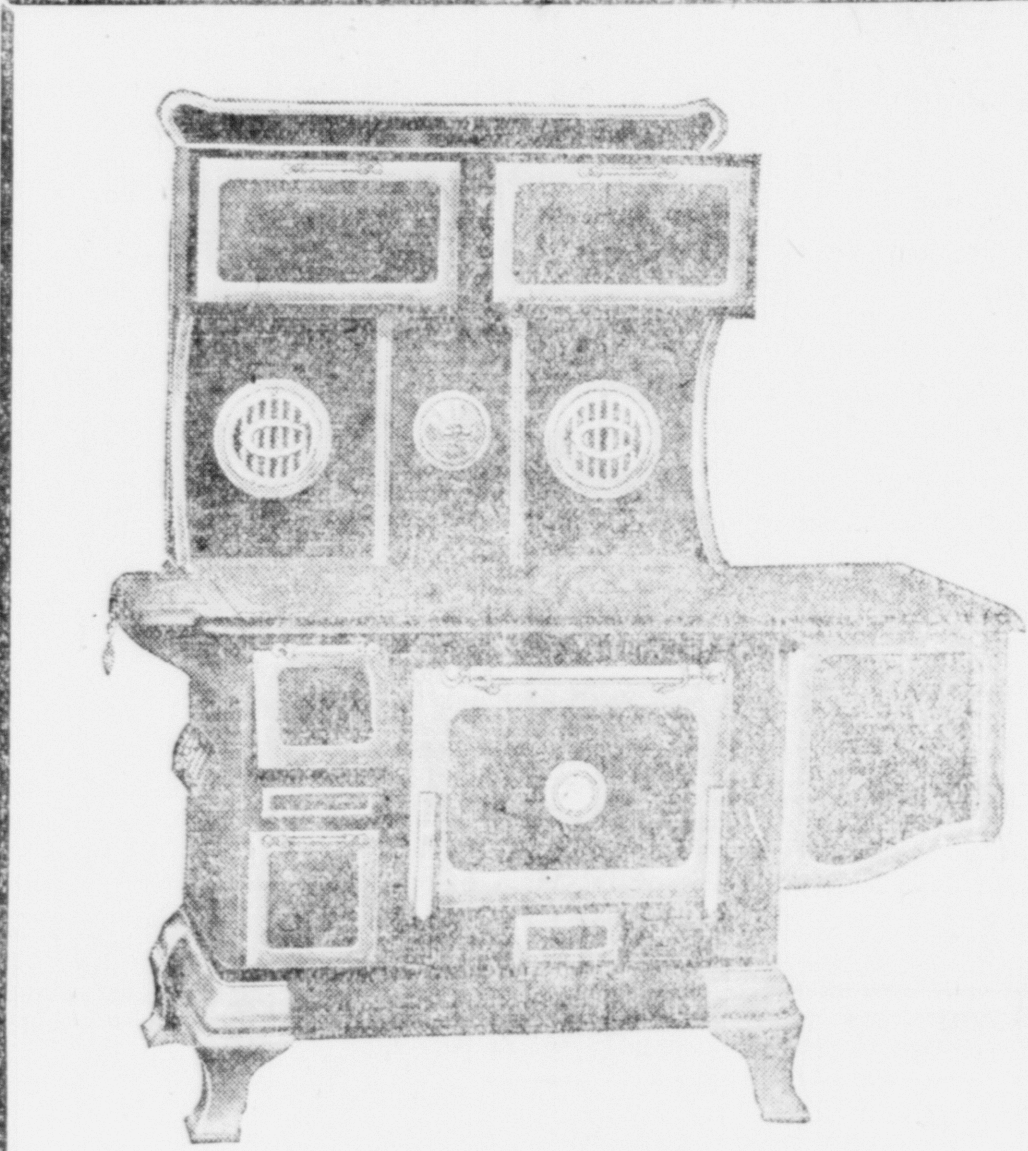

It is addicted to a passion for substitutes

It is intolerant.

It is democratic only in theory and obsessed by mob-thinking which "corrodes it and kills originality."

It is burdened by a penchant for trivialities and a lack of high seriousness.

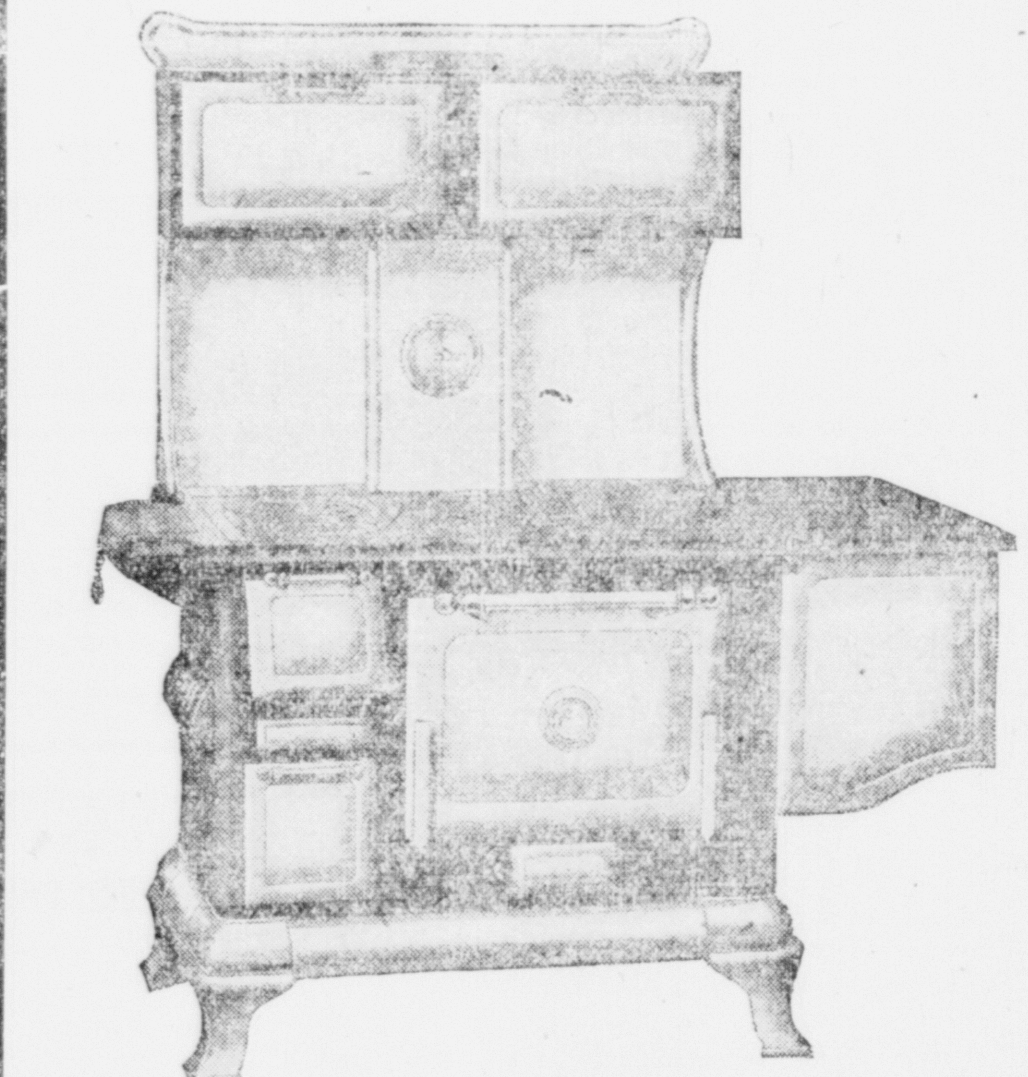

It is especially afflicted by having New York City.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

The strikingly beautiful outlines of the Copper Clad Range stops every woman. As she looks and admires, she finds it is true beauty—the beauty of elegant and perfect proportions—of fine finish—the thoroughbred of the Range World.

Look for hinges on the above—two only on the oven door and they are long and smooth. There are six other doors yet not a hinge in sight, not a catch, nor hook nor latch. Built like fine automobiles, the hinges are all inside.

THE COPPER-CLAD RANGE

WITH WHITE ENAMEL TRIMMINGS

"Copper-Clad" means pure Sheet Copper is placed BETWEEN the sweaty asbestos and range body. To place it elsewhere would be like climbing on top of a roof to get out of the wet.

SET OF ELEGANT THIS ALUMINUM WARE FREE

IF YOU BUY A COPPER-CLAD RANGE NEXT WEEK.

"FREE" means that this ware does not cost Copper-Clad buyers a single penny. It is a reward for buying while the "Copper-Clad Crank" is here and is offered by him to justify you in attending this sale.

This ware is very substantial and just the kind that you would select if buying for your own use. The 7-in-1 convertible cooker takes the place of seven different vessels, as shown by figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. You can use this utensil in some form every day.

Free to Every Copper-Clad Buyer During This Sale.
Come — See the Asbestos Sweat

COPPER-CLAD WEEK

Next Week, Oct. 23 to 28 Inclusive

No matter whether you want a range now or next year or any other time, it will pay you to come and see the Copper-Clad Crank make the Asbestos Sweat.

He takes any piece of Asbestos, puts it between two iron plates—heats it—and shows you the sweat. You can roll it up in drops with your finger.

Every good range must be lined with asbestos to hold the heat around the oven and keep down fuel costs. Every time the range cools off, the asbestos takes moisture out of the fresh air circulating through the range out of a blotter takes up water. When you fire up, this moisture is driven by the heat to the outside against the cold range body and starts Sweat-Rust on the inside where you can't get at it even though you know it rusts. Sweat-Rust ruins thousands and thousands of otherwise good ranges every year. When the range body is gone, the range is done for.

The Copper-Clad Idea Is "Pure Sheet" Copper Between the Asbestos and Range Body

Copper never rusts. It may tarnish but it will last centuries. There are Copper Domes that have been defying the elements for hundreds of years. So, when we say a "Copper-Clad can't rust out," we mean that the copper lining overcomes all internal rust. An oiled rag will keep the outside free of rust—and there are no fussy ornaments full of rivets and bolts to skin your hands. The Copper-Clad wipes clean like a dish.

If these things are so—you should know it. Not by hearsay—but by the evidence of your own eyes. Remember, this "Copper-Clad Crank" is here to tell—to show—to explain. He delights in it. You won't "bother" him by asking questions. He has oodles of time to answer and he is here to "Show You."

the richest on earth, and every important country, taking note, has now adopted a tariff plan of its own.

We had a strong protective tariff until 1836. After that we began to wobble, until, after sixteen years of no protective tariff, from 1845 to 1861, we had very dark times of panic and depression. Three-fourths of our industries, quit business and laborers were out of work. President Buchanan said of the period: "Hope seems to have deserted the minds of men."

We were lifted out of this Slough of Despond by a protective tariff with which we brought our industries, and mining to a marvellous development.

This prosperity was interrupted from 1892 to 1896 by a period of free trade, under Cleveland, during which we had one of the most severe panics in our history. There were 57,000 business failures during these years and hundreds of thousands of business men were unable to pay their interest and taxes. Men were walking the streets in idleness. Coxey's army of unemployed marched to Washington carrying banners which read, "We don't want charity—we want work."

At the next election McKinley, advocate of protective tariff, was elected President by a tremendous majority.

Following this came seventeen years of prosperity under a protective tariff, which was spoiled by a split in the republican ranks that caused the election of Woodrow Wilson and a congress opposed to the protective policy.

As was to be expected, business rapidly declined, factories closed, and laborers were out of work. The war came along just in time to save us from the worst effects of low tariff. It gave us a market for all we could produce, supplying the demands of Europe. After the armistice was signed, however, Europe began shipping her cheaply made goods over here in immense quantities. They filled our markets and drove out American products. Since these foreign goods were shipped in duty free, our merchants could buy them for less than we could produce them for, and so they would not buy American wares and our products had no sale. This meant idleness, and the panic was upon us again.

Into this financial depression entered President Harding. An emergency tariff was passed at the earliest moment. Almost by magic it turned the tide. In a few short months the panic which was under way was dispelled, and business was started on the upward trend. We are almost back to normal now, with prospects for such prosperous times ahead as we have not yet known.

True to form, opponents of the protection idea are still shouting calamity, calling the tariff "damnable, ruinous and oppressive" without consulting the history of tariff legislation of the past. But history speaks for itself.

Current Comment

If The Farmer Should Strike (Houston Post)

Governor Miller of New York thinks that if the farmers ever "unionize and practice the methods of the unions, it will be a sorry day for the country."

What the governor suggests is surely not a pleasant prospect. Suppose, for instance, that the producers of wheat, corn, potatoes and cotton and other essentials of life were to conclude that because they were not getting a just price for their products, they would sit down and produce nothing for a year.

Or suppose, that rebelling against the necessity of working long hours in the fields in the busy season, the farmers should determine not to work at all, and should agree to live in idleness on common funds accumulated during better years.

The nation would presently face a famine. A mighty howl would go up from the cities against the treachery of the farmers. To interfere with the production of the essentials of life would quickly be viewed as a crime. Having control of the land, the implements and the necessary knowledge and skill for producing the necessities of life, to refuse to use them would be called indirect murder.

Yet capital and labor in the urban districts commit the same character of offense when they institute their lockouts and strikes and interfere with or cut off the production of other essentials of life, and insist that they have a legal and moral right to resort to such means, with the view of forcing their own views in controversies with adversaries.

If the farmer talks of a strike involving the depletion of the nation's food supply, it appears as a heinous offense. If industrial workers strike and cut off a necessity, it is the vindication of a great American right; or if an industry falls out with its employees and shuts down, it is only the exercise of the rights guaranteed to capital and property.

If a strike by the farmers appears such a heinous offense to the workers in the cities dependent upon them for food, why can they not see the same degree of moral turpitude in their action against the public at large, when they attempt to squeeze the public into an acquiescence into their demands.

Fortunately, the farmers have not yet got around to the strike method. They are organizing to promote cheaper and better distribution, and seeking through co-operation to avoid overproduction and consequent unprofitable prices, but the farmers never yet have indulged the idea of sitting down and doing nothing in an effort to force their views of crop values on the country.

To the farmer's credit so far, let it be said, he has never proposed to make the world go hungry or naked, in order to pile up profits for himself. The most that he has demanded has been a fair division of the products of his labor to which he is surely entitled.

Basketball Coaches And Officials Of Indiana High Schools Adopt Rule
Effective Next Season

OTHER CHANGES ARE MADE

Proposals To Ban "Out Of State"
Tournaments And Physical Examination Are Voted Down

Basketball coaches and officials of 699 high schools in Indiana, met Thursday afternoon in Indianapolis and discussed proposed changes in the rules of the state association, which resulted in ten changes being made, including the adoption of the 1922-23 Spalding rules, and the limitation of the schedule to 20 games.

All changes passed upon will become effective immediately, with the exception of the 20 game schedule, which will not apply until next season. In addition to these changes, several other proposed changes were voted down.

The proposed elimination of "out of state" tournaments, physical examination and parental consent for athletes to participate in basketball, track or baseball was voted down. There was considerable discussion on the topic of parental consent, many of the coaches telling of their experiences where good players were kept out of activities by their parents' objections.

A brief summary of the changes adopted, is as follows:

Fixing of season between Oct. 1 and the final state tournament.

Limitation of schedule to twenty games.

One tourney besides state tournaments.

Suspension of schools violating rules.

Provision for plan to develop better officials.

Permission for students to play on teams of organization providing gymnasium for school.

Adoption of 1922-1923 basket ball rules.

Curtailling of professionalism. Provision for four and a half-year man to play last semester in school. The adoption of rule 4, limiting the number of tournaments in which a team may play, occurred only after two amendments had been proposed and killed. The question of finances, as an excuse for more tournaments, was introduced by one coach. Gorton of Shortridge addressed the meeting in defense of limiting the games and on physical protection to young athletes. He criticised coaches for considering money ahead of their players.

Indorsement of the 1922-1923 Spalding rules caused considerable controversy between the two factions. Some of those against favored making Indiana basketball individual instead of following national policies. They believed that a change would only cause confusion and tend to make the game more complicated. Those for new rules believed the sport would be improved and would relieve the referee from many important decisions. The new rules differ from those calling of fouls and awarding of free throws according to position on the floor the foul was called. Technical fouls, which shall not award free throws, are also classified. In these cases the ball will be put into play from out of bounds.

The body of representatives stood together against the inroads of professionalism. The rule governing this objection was adopted unanimously.

A measure providing for a four and a half year students to participate in athletics the last semester in school was introduced and adopted. The rule states that a player shall not be active in athletics more than four years.

Authority was granted the board of control to work out a similar system used in past years for the state tournaments and state track meet. The advisability of changing the state track meet to one week later in May was discussed, but no action was taken. A motion for the addition of a half mile relay to the schedule for the state track meet was introduced and carried.

Another motion for the introduction of the javelin was lost.

Real Football For Saturday

By HENRY L. PARKER

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Oct. 20—First real football bangs of the season starts tomorrow with an attractive program.

Features of the schedule are the games between Harvard and Centre College at Cambridge and Georgia Tech and the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Centre beat Harvard last year and the Colonels will give the Crimson a fight simply because they teach them to fight at Centre. The Colonels, however, haven't the chance to win they had last year.

Georgia Tech probably will have an interesting time with the midshipmen. The southerners are strong for the style of depending on a strong attack for the defense, while the midshipmen are always well schooled on the defense.

Featured in the middlewest will be the game between Ohio State, former champions of the western conference, and Michigan.

In addition to its effects on the conference championship race it will be a big game because it will be the official opener for the new million-dollar Ohio stadium.

Other interesting game in the conference will be between Iowa and Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin and Minnesota and Northwestern.

Pancho Villa, the new American flyweight champion, had a tough time getting any kind of a chance in the ring.

He was unknown and the matchmakers for all the clubs didn't think much of the fighting ability of any yellow man.

Dave Driscoll, matchmaker for the Brooklyn ball club, finally put him on.

"His manager kept bothering the life out of me and I decided finally the best way to get rid of him was to get his boy knocked out," Driscoll said.

"I put him on in a four round bout and he made a whole of a showing. Then I gave him a six-rounder and he became a real hit. He was good enough for twelve rounds then he became a card. The next thing he had the American title and as soon as I stage the fight with Jimmy Wilde, he'll be the world's champion."

For several years the International League club owners have been yelping for the breaking up of the Baltimore Club, said to be a major league team in a minor league.

Baltimore sort of denied the allegations by going out and losing a series with the New Haven Club, winners of the Eastern League, for the minor league championship of the east.

Later the Orioles turned around and won the "little world's series" from the St. Paul club, champions of the American Association.

Which gives New Haven some sort of a title.

ROCKNE LAUDS WORK

Notre Dame Coach Says Purdue Has Hardest Tackling And Blocking Team His Crew Has Met

MEETS CHICAGO SATURDAY

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 20—"Purdue has the hardest tackling and blocking team we have played in years," stated Coach Knute Rockne, of the Notre Dame team, following the Purdue-Notre Dame contest last Saturday. He was right, the Boilermakers have improved 100 percent in the two departments of the game mentioned by the Irish coach, and with a better organized offensive attack, Phelan's eleven should be able to provide Chicago with some unexpected opposition Saturday, at Stagg field.

Purdue's green and inexperienced team, handicapped by the loss of Captain Murphy in the backfield, and Stewart, a 213 pound tackle, in the line, put up a great fight against the Irish, and forced them to uncover some complicated forward pass combinations in order to score. Nine of the men starting the game were playing in their first big contest for Purdue, while many of the substitutes who were sent in during the second half were making their debut in a Purdue football uniform. If Murphy and Stewart can play against Chicago, and the Purdue team is not otherwise hampered by injuries, the Maroons should have a hard game on their hands Saturday. About 1,500 Purdue fans and the famous Purdue band of 100 pieces will make the trip to Chicago, and parade down Michigan Boulevard following their arrival.

PUTS ON FINAL TOUCHES

Center College Has Chance To Beat Harvard Again Saturday

Cambridge, Mass., Oct. 20—With the chance of doing what no other team has ever done—beating Harvard two years in succession on the Crimson field—Center college today put the final touches on its preparations for tomorrow's battle.

Prospects of a brilliant game are the brightest. Both teams are in perfect condition. Harvard, according to the Crimson trainers, is in the best shape of the year and "uncle Charley" Morgan says that—"Center is always in shape."

Princeton—All the Princeton regulars with the exception of Lloyd Bergan, quarterback, are back in togs and pointing for the trip to Chicago next week. Coach Roper made his first important switch of the season when he placed Stinson and Shackleford in the backfield.

al reserve board, provided that in appointing members of that board the President should have due regard to a fair representation of the different commercial, industrial and geographic divisions of the country. Congress, however, passed a law amending the federal reserve act by providing that in appointing the members the President shall have due regard to their representation of the financial, agricultural, industrial and commercial interests.

"There was some opposition to this amendment by those who felt that the result would be to weaken the federal reserve board, and that a provision for agriculture representation had the appearance of class representation. Congress very properly, however, acted upon the theory that this federal reserve board is the most powerful financial institution in the country; that the manner in which it administers its credit machinery can unmake any business or industry; that agriculture, being the basic industry of the country, the industry upon which our entire civilization depends, should have more careful consideration than is has in the past.

"It is not the thought that agriculture should receive benefits to the injury of any other business or industry. The law as it now stands provides for a board which shall represent in fact a cross section of our financial, agricultural, commercial and industrial life."

THE J. B. HOWARD COMBUSTION DEVICE

With The Damper Back Of The Firepot Has Made The Hot Blast Air Tight

FLORENCE Famous

The Damper Back of the Firepot

IS WHY THE HOT BLAST AIR TIGHT FLORENCE SHOULD BE USED IN EVERY HOME THAT IS HEATED WITH A STOVE

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT has revolutionized combustion. It makes its own gas and burns it and makes its own coke and burns it, in the burning of the cheapest soft coal or slack.

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT is the means of burning the cheapest soft coal or slack with the same regularity and cleanliness as the burning of gas, and will heat three times the space at one-third the cost of any other heating stove burning coal or wood.

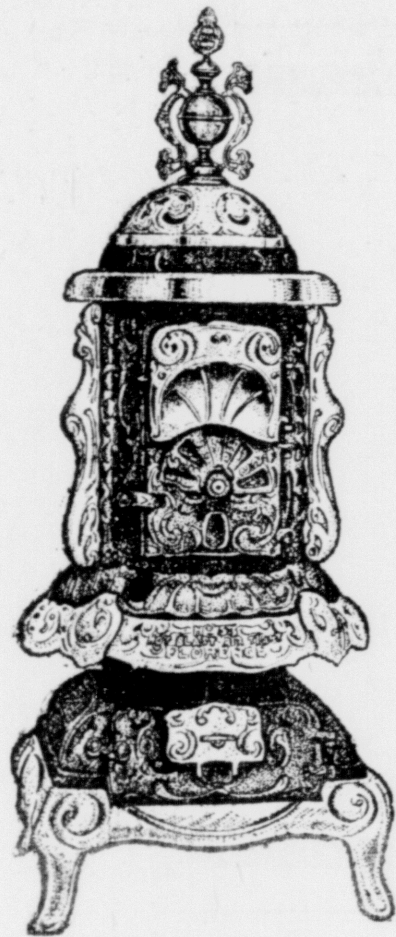

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT regulates the heat in burning coal or wood the same as a key in burning gas.

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT can be set to whatever degree of heat is required, maintaining a steady heat day and night, and only burns coal or wood according to the amount of heat required.

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT eliminates the soot, dust, dirt and cinders that must be put up with in using all other heating stoves.

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT enables you to have a steady heat day and night, heating five or six rooms when the weather is twenty degrees below zero.

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT regulates a slow combustion and will hold fire from 24 hours to 4 days and 4 nights with one filling.

A Floor Heater

The Florence heats the floor 5 or 6 feet from the stove

The Trouble With All Heating Stoves Depending Upon a Front Damper

One hour the stove is too hot and the next hour it is cold.

When the weather is zero or 20 degrees below zero all doors must be closed forcing the family to live in the room where the stove is.

Every little while coal must be put in the stove because it has no control. Three times the amount of ash is made, which means more dirt in the house and more work.

In all heating stoves depending upon the front damper to regulate the heat there is danger of puffing and explosion when the stove is replenished with fresh fuel.

When the stove gets red hot the metal expands. When it gets cold the metal contracts, which warps and burns out the stove in a few years, besides the constant expense of repairs.

THE FLORENCE STOVE WILL BE JUST AS GOOD TWENTY-FIVE YEARS FROM NOW AS IT IS TODAY THE HOT BLAST AIR TIGHT

FLORENCE has the only JOINTLESS L.C. BOTTOM AND BASE with full radiation that has ever been made which makes it as good a fire-keeper 25 years from now. The first Florence heating stove sold in 1899 is working, wherever it is.

THE DAMPER BACK OF THE FIREPOT prevents puffing in the burning of soft coal or slack because it burns the gases that cause the explosions.

Do not be deceived by unscrupulous manufacturers or dealers when they say that a stove without a damper back of the firepot will do what the Florence does.

What Ohio State University Agricultural Extension Service Says About Minerals For Swine:

"Relatively little has been said in the past about the feeding mineral to hogs. But of late special attention is being given to this feature of feeding. The present trend of hog production is toward larger hogs. This being true, it takes more bone to support these heavier hogs. Stronger bone means that there must be more mineral matter supplied in the feed to produce it. Experiments show that in average hog feeds hogs do not secure enough mineral matter to produce sufficient bone, and it is more true in the growing of these larger present-day animals. The only way to meet this need, then, is to feed the hogs, especially growing pigs, some special mineral mixture."

The ACME MINERALS that we are manufacturing are made according to the Complete Mineral Formula with nine different ingredients, which was worked out at the Iowa Experimental Station by Prof. Evvard, and we will ship to any farmer or feeder the nine different ingredients sacked separately and they may mix their own if they choose at the same price per hundred as the ready mixed.

In buying your mineral mixture be sure that you buy the Complete Mineral Mixture with the nine different ingredients and beware of imitations.

Thin? Run-down? Sure Way to Get Right Weight

Increase Your Red-Blood-Cells. That's the Sure Way! S. S. S. Builds Blood-Cells; This Means Strength!

Do you know why insurance companies refuse to insure a great many men because they are under weight? Simply because to be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus energy, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus. That's why S. S. S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Hollow cheeks fill out. You stop being a calamity looker. You inspire confidence. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S. S. S. will build them. Ladies and gentlemen, a peaky, bony face doesn't make you look very important or pretty, does it? Take S. S. S. It contains only pure vegetable medicinal ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

NOT TO TAX DIVIDENDS OF STANDARD OIL CO.

Secretary of Treasury Mellon Feels That "There is Nothing to Tax" —Accumulated Profits Taxed

WAS ASKED FOR AN OPINION

Washington, Oct. 20—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon will rule that stock dividends of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey are not taxable, it was indicated today at the treasury department. Mellon feels that "there is nothing to tax" it was stated.

The secretary takes the view that the four hundred percent stock dividend declared by the company is in reality a splitting up of the shares and will not add to their value, it was stated. He holds that the accumulated profits of the company have been taxed and therefore there is nothing to tax in this case, as it shall not be held as a distribution of accumulated profits.

Mellon expects to write a letter to Representative Fear of Wisconsin, in reply to a letter from the congressman asking for an expression of opinion from the secretary on the stock dividend.

TO CLOSE SUNDAY NIGHT

Happy Meikel, the noted speaker who has been speaking at the Salvation Army church for the past week, spoke on "A Cup of Joy" at the meeting Thursday evening. A large crowd was present for the meeting and preceding the talk Mrs. Ruth Moore sang a beautiful solo, accompanied on the piano by O. P. Wamsley. Mr. Meikel will close his services Sunday night with a talk on "Life with Livingston and Stanley, Great Explorers in African Jungles." Colored singers will provide music at this service.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

a woman in Lynn, Mass., was steeping herbs on her kitchen stove according to a recipe of her own, to furnish medicine for the women of the neighborhood. Today, a stone's throw from the little house where she lived, there is a four-story laboratory, making the same medicine for the women of the world. During the last year almost 500 tons of carefully selected herbs were used in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

He stated that when he retired there was more money in the treasury in all departments, than at any time, and that he thought reductions should be made. He stated that "The trouble I had was to spend the money, without being reckless and extravagant."

He stated that when he retired that the state tax levy could easily have been reduced five cents, because he turned over to the successors the sum of $3, 700,000 in clear money in the treasury, and that the state was out of debt, which it had faced when he had taken office four years previously.

He called attention to the fact that a comparison of the two state platforms should be made, and cited the fact that the republican platform did not mention taxation, and that the recent democratic platform pledged lower taxation, and stood for a repeal of the Goodrich tax law.

He stated that the democratic platform stood upon the principle to protect local interest and that if local officials desired to impose a bond issue above a set figure, it would be first necessary for the voters to express their sentiment, and if the majority wanted to be bonded, then they could express their views by voting.

The former governor stated that the democratic platform also stood on the ground that no taxes could be raised beyond a certain standard within the state, unless the voice of the people ruled by vote, and that unless this becomes a law, the people can't control taxation, and enjoy the rights of an individual as set out in the constitution of the United States.

Then the former governor appealed to the farmers of the community, and stated that he was born and reared on the farm, but was not now active on the farm. He stated that during the last three years of republican rule, he had been kept busy practicing law in order to pay the taxes on the farm.

The former governor stated that when he was governor, that the administration collected $1 million in taxes and that the Goodrich administration, which followed, took away 114 million in taxes.

He urged that the farmers continue in their work, and urged the people to stay with the farms. "The question of tariff was brought up in this connection, in speaking about the farms."

The former governor stated that back in 1918, the republican congress was urged to pass the emergency tariff in order to protect the farmers, because of a threatened inrush of grain from foreign markets, and that as a result wheat dropped down from $2 a bushel to less than a dollar and that corn toppled from a dollar down to less than 20 cents.

The former governor stated that back of each tariff, there were corporations and others known as tariff profiteers, and that Jim Watson, who is so urgent for protective tariff, "no doubt, if you would look behind him, hanging to his coat tail, you will find one of those tariff profiteers," he stated.

He stated that under the new protective tariff, as passed by the present administration, clothing will go up, and that a republican speaker stated at a meeting this week in Indiana that it would mean an advancement of $2 on a suit of clothes. He deplored the conditions which he alleged would exist, and stated that the cost would find its way into every home, and in every purchase that one would make.

He again appealed to the farmers in declaring that if the protective tariff would continue, it would mean that the United States would lose its foreign trade and that the farmer would not have a suitable market for their grain. "It is the people who are behind the tariff that will profit," he continued, "destroy our foreign trade and increase the cost of living in this country."

His closing argument was against the proposed sales tax as outlined by Senator Beveridge. He held in honor the plan which would cause a tax to be placed on every article bought and sold, in which the government would reap a small profit, and the corporations reap a fortune, according to his view, while the working man and woman would pay the bill.

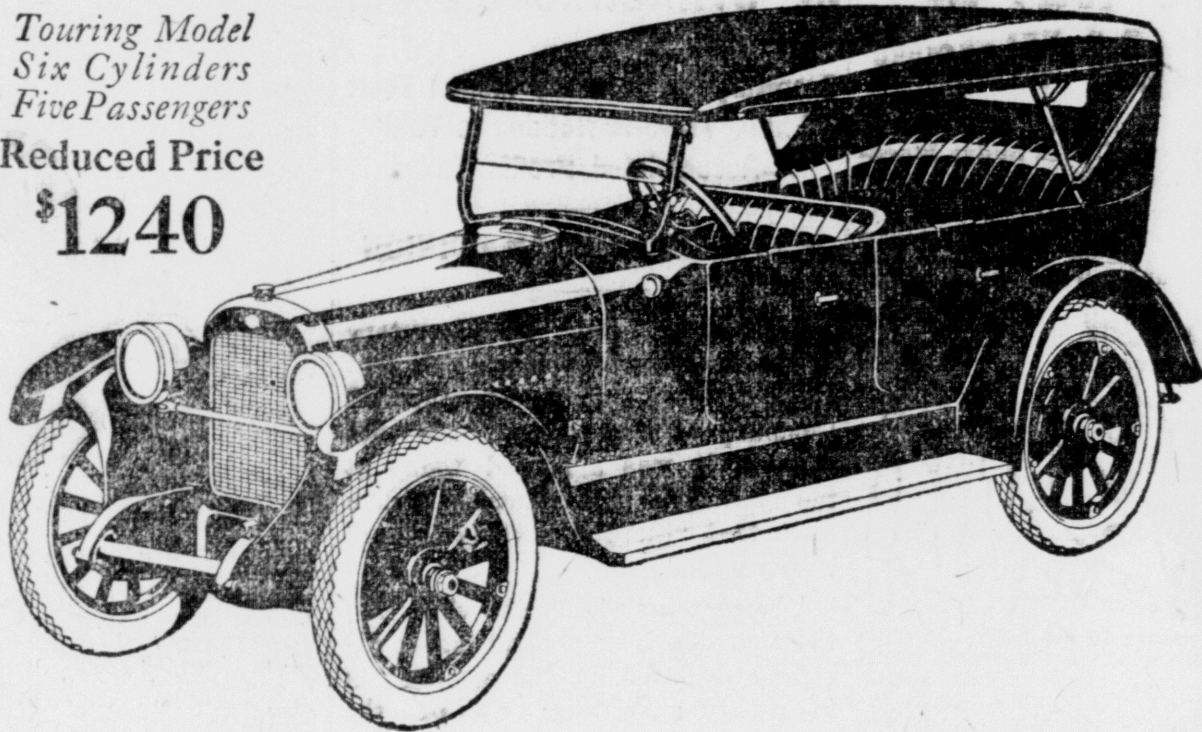

He condemned the sale tax plan, saying it would be the ruination of the country, and his pleas along this line in his closing arguments were roundly applauded by the crowd. He promised a worthy term in the Senate if elected, and that his record established in the governor's chair would be followed in his seat in the senate.

The speaker was introduced by Douglas Morris, former judge of the Indiana appellate court.

The locale of the action is mainly in Newport, R. I., that fashionable playground of American society folk, and the characters of the story are all people of wealth and refinement. The central figure is Ivis Vanastor, a charming young lady who, upon arriving at her eighteenth birthday, has taken possession of her house at Newport. Ivis is a pronounced flirt and in order to indulge to her heart's delight in her favorite pastime, she pretends to be married. But to Ivis' dismay, the one man she wants to flirt with avoids her, and from that point on the fun increases with leaps and bounds.

Louise Huff is charming as Ivis Vanastor, and Harry Benham, as Norman Kent, makes an ideal leading man. Ida Darling, Templar Saxe, Wm. Eville and other well-known screen folk make up the balance of the cast.

ADMINISTRATION OF PERIL ENDS

Resignation of Lloyd George Brings to an End The Premiership Which He Held Since 1916

LIBERAL CABINET HEAD

Upon Conclusion of War Attack on Lloyd George Was Begun Similar to Recent Campaign

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for United Press)

Resignation of Lloyd George brings to an end the most critical and perilous administration in the thousand years of Great Britain's history. Lloyd George has held the premiership continuously since 1916.

He was made prime minister in the midst of the world conflict, as a result of the allies' failure during the first two years of the fighting. On the outbreak of the war Herbert Asquith was British premier, at the head of a liberal ministry, with Lloyd George as chancellor of the exchequer. Asquith allowed Lord Kitchener to direct the war without interference. The latter proved a failure through lack of adaptability to the changing methods of modern combat. Shortage of proper artillery at the front was made the excuse for Asquith's overthrow.

The British premier public demanded a non-partisan war ministry and Lloyd George was chosen to head a coalition cabinet of liberals, conservatives and laborites. The choice fell on him because of the success and energy he had shown as minister of munitions during the previous year and because of his optimism and fearlessness.

Upon the conclusion of the war an attack on Lloyd George was begun similar to the campaign recently started by his political enemies. Lloyd George accepted the challenge and appealed to the country at a general election held December 14, 1918. He was supported by the conservative voters and most of the liberals, who wanted the coalition government continued through the peace negotiations, Lloyd George declared in his campaign speeches that if elected he would bring the kaiser and the other German war lords to trial and would make Germany pay for the war. Asquith and a few personal followers fought Lloyd George at the election.

Asquith was defeated for re-election and had to find another constituency. The coalitionists scored a great triumph. The returns, which are substantially the position held by the parties today were as follows:

Coalition—conservatives 334; liberals 133; laborites 11.
Opposition—laborites 63; conservatives 48; liberals 28; Sinn Feiners 73; Irish nationalists 7; independents 10.
